Dear colleague,

Thank you for sending us the three issues (Vol 2/1, 3/1. 4/1) and the accompanying authorization to allow us to cover the journal.

It is indeed a journal of impressive quality, even if only a few of the articles come within our purview. Given its place of publication, it suggests a bold and courageous attempt to address major issues of the day.

We are of course pleased to cover it, and look forward to future issues. My only request is that you ask authors to limit their abstracts to the international standard of ± 125 -130 words. We believe it is advantageous to have a succinct abstract to inform the researcher efficiently about the scope and methods of the article; a brief abstract also inspires researchers to seek and read the entire article, and not just draw ideas and references from the abstract.

Best wishes for your success.
